HISTORY OF FRIENDS

The Friends of Marshall Public Library have a long history of helping make the library a better, more spacious place.

In 1964, a Friends of the Library group was organized and a campaign began to “work toward relocating the library to a downstairs” from the upstairs of what is currently the Chamber of Commerce. Funds were raised and in 1968 the Friends were able to make a down payment to purchase the former Willfond Clothing Store located at 612 Archer Avenue. Upon purchase, the group dissolved but then in 1995 they re-organized to secure funds to purchase the adjoining building formerly known as C.A. Dixon Farm Implements, Ford Auto and Kroger. The purchase of this building tripled the library’s building size.

Since the purchase of the Dixon building the Friends have been able to support the library in a variety of ways. Most recently they funded the digitization of local microfilm newspapers dating as far back as the Civil War. These newspapers are now available in a searchable format on the library’s website. In addition, the Friends have been working to preserve local history with their Oral History Project which now boasts more than 200 local interviews available online.
